Here is a game in the making. I like to call it TurtleMom because she loves that story. She always was put down when she was younger. So she tells me this story because it gives her hope that someone who is slow could be better one day.

Note:

This game uses the SONY PS1 controller. However you need a USB port adapter for your controller if you use the SONY PS1 controller from the device that has not been modified. Quadko from www.dosgames.com should be able to tell you the one that I'm talking about.

Remember it is still in the making. Not done yet.

The game is coming along and is able to score now. It currently uses the SONY PS1 controller with USB adapter. So if you just want to watch the turtle run just press Q to quit after you're tired of seeing it. However I hope you never tire of it. At least I hope you take the lesson that my mom is able to take care of me.

Well here is a followup to my mother's game that she loves to tell. You can't do anything yet unless you have the SONY PS1 controller. It just adds a few scenarios to the background.

Thank you to my mom who is Huong Thi Vu. She says I could do grasses, trees, etc. next.

Today a couple major algorithms have been introduced. There's now triple buffering to making it display smooth instead of flickering and possibly causing a headache haha. You are by default put in keyboard mode: A-left, D-right, W-up, S-down, and Space-pet the turtle. If you hold down space while the hand is on the turtle the grass will grow from the bottom left to the bottom right.

Once again the SONY PS1 controller works so long that you have a USB adapter. It has been tested in DOSBox 0.74.

The C-key will toggle between controller and keyboard mode.

Q to quit.

Well here is "control8.c" and "control8.exe".

The C is for Borland Turbo C 2.01 just in case for you developers.

The EXE is for those who just want to run the program.

What's special about this program is the subtle shading.
When the hand moves over an object it does not show through.

Technically this is should just be for registered members of VetusWare. However it is good enough to know you got it from VetusWare. There are now seven levels to TurtleMom. As the name of the game implies the turtle just sits there and does nothing. Every time you pet a turtle and accumulate over 15 points in turtles you go to the next level. I hope you enjoy the scenary along the way. I have a long way to go before I match the 450 levels of Lode Runner. I might even run out of memory before getting that high. So we'll take it one day at a time and see how many levels can we add. In the mean time I hope you enjoy the simple games. If something should happen to me the random map generator should keep you busy for a lifetime in theory.

Well, there's still a glitch from time to time with the random maze generator. I don't know when it happens. I tried to fix it and thought I got it, but it stopped again today. So the only thing I could think of is that the random maze generator doesn't want to produce a maze because I did something wrong like I didn't tell mom good night yet.

I'm sorry about that. Now we have an over-ride. If it detects that the random maze generator is not working it will use the default human pre-defined map. The random maze generator has a probability of not working in a certain unknown percentage. The reason is what computer scientists calls "seeding". Depending on how the system seeds the random generator it might end up locking up or producing the same result instead of a random map.

Well I'm still working on the glitch so it's still not fully functional. However I've been able to pass to the winning stage and won the game. So it's possible.

Memory is getting to be a concern too it seems. The buffer is now getting smaller to make room for the program that takes up space with the maze and other artworks.

For the most part it is a working game. This game does require large amounts of memory. DOS comes with 1 megabyte of memory by default so that should work.

VGA is the graphics mode that is used so if you don't have a VGA card you won't be able to run this program on real machine.

Sound is not necessary at this time since it coincidentally allows you to play your own music in the background. Just put your stereo on whatever you want while you play the game.

So far 8 levels are defined.

Enjoy.

God is number two to none; For God Jesus Christ is the only good past present and future!

Thank you God for my two parents (e.g.. mom Huong Thi Thuyen Vu, and dad Nguyen Binh Thuy). While they were with me they trained me while I was just a young boy to be an in demand programmer that lasts forever. Now that I am old that lesson lives through my work every day of my life.

Also, love to my two sisters (e.g.. Nguyen Khoa Thuyen, and Nguyen Khoa Thi); They are both married and happy with their own family now for the rest of their lives thanks to Jesus Christ#

For me, I'm just playing chess for a hobby for the rest of my life to relax while at the same time program for my work; I hope you like Turtlmom so far since it is now up to 38 levels. If you want to take it easy I would just pass all the first phase and call it quits. If you want it a little more challenging I would take the second round.

Anyways here is just another day of work for me so I hope you are continuing to enjoy the new levels each day until the memory or disk is no longer able to hold it. hehe

Here is Turtlmom with maybe 40 levels, cheats for all levels except the last, and at least 2 rounds.

Should work in 32-bit Microsoft Windows XP Home with SP2 since it has been tested, but it needs a processor slow down unless you can handle the warp drive? hehe

Well, members may know that I've been issued 2 warnings so far for praising God's son who died for all our sins over two thousand years ago. I will continue to praise God's son until I am banned.

In the time being while I am being evaluated please enjoy my softwares that I enjoy making#

Did you know almost every site I've been on denies Jesus Christ by banning me? It is true. They claim to be on the side of God, and then when it's time to back up their claims they walk away or ban me to keep me shut.

Thank you to Apple for designing a quality laptop. My laptop is now 7 years old and the only thing wrong with it is the DVD writer. If it can last over 58 more years I would be more than happy. However I'll give Apple a break since it's my only laptop and it's continuing to work.

I have it fully featured now. It has Mountain Lion, Windows 8 dual boot, and Windows XP Virtual Machine. Adobe PhotoShop is on there. Microsoft Word is on there. And my favourite is notepad that is in Windows XP.

Well, I've been thanking both my parents lately. However we should all be grateful to our parents.

They did work so we could stay home and eat and text all day long for over 58 years on our favourite site.

I just wanted to let the whole creation of God know that I'm grateful to God#

There are so many events that I often take for granted.

I take it for granted that my mother is here although she is 63 years old.
I take it for granted that I have internet.
I take it for granted that I have food to eat.
I take it for granted that I have freedom.
I take it for granted that I have people who care enough to talk to me from time to time.
I take it for granted that there are people who help out.
I take it for granted that especially my two parents raised me up asking for nothing except I get good grades and do the same for my kids one day.

Most important of all I take it for granted that God sent Jesus Christ who died.

Well it's time to almost conclude Turtlmom.

The memory is getting less and less.
Maybe another 30 levels and I'm out of memory.
So hopefully we'll be able to reach 100 levels.

That'll be nice making it an even 100 levels for a first time game.
So in another month Turtlmom should be done.

After that we'll have to see what games we can come up with.

Thank you mom and dad for raising me up so I can take care of my family#

As I am posting this I am concurrently playing a game of chess at 1104 ELO USCF on Chessmaster 10th Edition for the PC. It is my favourite game currently. I have set it for 5 hours per side. I am not discipline enough at this point to sit there and stare at a board for hours haha. Anyways Jesus Christ help me to win somehow. The computer is taking a long time to think unless it is bluffing. haha

Well while it thinks I figure I might well do a little programming as usual.

After this post I am checking since it might have very well passed the turn to me already haha.

Well life is short even if I live close to 100 years old.

I am grateful to God especially for my family.

I miss the times when we were young.

However there were also bad times that came along with it too.

I remember my parents argued from time to time.

We have to struggle for what we have.

We could not just take off whenever we wanted.

Although just a kid I like others have to study everyday.

Life is not all fun and games.

Then you get into relationships and people get hurt feelings.

So even with friends you cannot trust all the time to be your side.

The point is you need to take the good and leave the bad.

Like my real family tells me to take the good and leave the bad.

Anyways Turtlmom with another level...

Even 80 levels is good enough for a first full game.

Although 100 levels would be preferable memory might not allow it.

I've only been able to test it with a USB PS1 controller. I only have two types could try to make work. Right now USB PS1. If you get the adapter for a PS3 to plug into a USB port it might work however there is NO guarantee. So I cannot tell you to try it. The USB PS1 controller is used because Windows 10 changed the values for the Microsoft XBOX360 controller. The Microsoft XBOX360 controller had a different value for older versions of Windows like in Vista. So I just use the PS1 USB since that's what worked originally. Since there is a turtle and a hand. I should really add the Microsoft XBOX360 controller.

My two real parents taught me early to work and study for practical reasons to support the family. Also, they allow time to play too. The weekend is reserved for church activities. For instance I try to listen or read The Holy Bible at least once a day if not every weekend.

Thank you to my two real sisters for being wise enough to raise their own families.

Here is Turtlmom with almost eighty-five to ninty levels of play.

About another 12 levels or such before 100 levels. So far memory is holding. I do not know if it is going to make it. However we should know in about another 12 days or so.

Okay so I was doing some research. It turns out 45k is just enough to add about 8 more levels.
Maybe it is possible to reach 100 levels.
